1. Code of Conduct

The company expects all personnel to act professionally, ethically and respectfully while representing the organization.

1.1 Professional Behaviour

Employees must communicate respectfully, act honestly, avoid abusive or threatening behaviour, and maintain professional standards in interactions with colleagues, customers and partners.

1.2 Conflicts of Interest

Employees must disclose situations where personal interests could influence business decisions. Outside employment, financial interests or personal relationships that create a material conflict must be reported to the appropriate manager.

1.3 Gifts and Hospitality

Employees must not accept gifts, discounts or hospitality that could improperly influence a business decision. Nominal promotional items may be accepted when they do not create an obligation.

1.4 Workplace Conduct

Discrimination, intimidation, retaliation, violence, falsification of records and deliberate misuse of company resources are prohibited.

2. Health, Safety & Wellbeing

The company is committed to maintaining a safe workplace and supporting employee wellbeing.

2.1 Workplace Safety

Employees must follow safety instructions, report hazards promptly and use required protective equipment where applicable. Unsafe conditions should be reported to a supervisor or designated safety representative.

2.2 Emergency Procedures

Employees must follow evacuation instructions and emergency procedures. Emergency exits, fire equipment and access routes must remain unobstructed.

2.3 Illness and Fitness for Work

Employees should not knowingly expose colleagues to communicable illness. Where illness may affect safe or effective performance, employees should inform their manager and follow applicable leave procedures.

2.4 Mental Wellbeing

Employees are encouraged to raise workload, stress or workplace wellbeing concerns with their manager or designated support channel. Seeking support will not, by itself, be treated as a performance issue.

3. Leave & Attendance

Attendance and leave are managed to balance employee needs with operational requirements.

3.1 Working Hours

Employees are expected to follow their assigned working schedule and be available during agreed working hours unless approved otherwise.

3.2 Annual Leave

Full-time employees are entitled to 20 days of annual leave per calendar year, subject to applicable approval procedures and business requirements.

3.3 Sick Leave

Employees who are unable to work due to illness should notify their manager as early as reasonably possible and provide supporting documentation when required by company rules.

3.4 Unplanned Absence

Repeated unexplained absence or failure to follow attendance procedures may result in corrective action.

4. Information Security & Data Protection

Company information and personal data must be protected against unauthorized access, disclosure, alteration and loss.

4.1 Passwords and Authentication

Employees must use strong credentials, keep passwords confidential and never share authentication codes. Multi-factor authentication must be enabled where required.

4.2 Personal Data

Personal information must only be collected, accessed, stored and shared for legitimate business purposes and in accordance with applicable law and company procedures.

4.3 Security Incidents

Lost devices, suspected phishing, accidental disclosure, unauthorized access and other security incidents must be reported promptly to the IT or security team.

4.4 Confidential Information

Confidential business information must not be disclosed to unauthorized persons, including through personal email, public repositories or unapproved cloud services.

5. Acceptable Use of Technology

Company technology is provided primarily for legitimate business activities and must be used responsibly.

5.1 Company Devices

Company devices must be protected from unauthorized use and should be locked whenever unattended. Employees must install only approved software unless authorized by IT.

5.2 Internet and Email

Company networks and email must not be used for unlawful activity, harassment, unauthorized commercial activity or distribution of malicious content.

5.3 Generative AI Tools

Employees must not enter confidential, proprietary or personal data into public AI tools unless the tool and use case have been explicitly approved. AI-generated output must be reviewed before business use.

5.4 Monitoring

The company may monitor company systems and network activity where permitted by law and company policy for security, compliance and operational purposes.

6. Anti-Harassment & Equal Opportunity

The company is committed to a workplace free from discrimination, harassment and retaliation.

6.1 Equal Opportunity

Employment decisions should be based on legitimate factors such as qualifications, performance, experience and business requirements. Discrimination on legally protected grounds is prohibited.

6.2 Harassment

Unwelcome conduct, including verbal, physical or digital behaviour that creates a hostile or intimidating work environment, is prohibited.

6.3 Reporting

Employees may report concerns through their manager, Human Resources or another designated reporting channel. Reports should be handled as confidentially as reasonably possible.

6.4 Non-Retaliation

Retaliation against a person who raises a concern in good faith or participates in an investigation is prohibited.

7. Remote & Hybrid Work

Remote and hybrid employees remain subject to the same professional, security and performance expectations as office-based employees.

7.1 Availability

Employees must remain reachable during agreed working hours and attend scheduled meetings unless an exception has been approved.

7.2 Home Workspace

Employees should maintain a suitable work environment that protects confidential information and supports safe, productive work.

7.3 Data Security

Employees must use approved authentication, secure networks where required and company-approved storage systems when handling company information remotely.

7.4 Equipment

Company equipment remains company property and must be returned when requested or when employment ends.

8. Travel & Expense

Business travel and expenses must be reasonable, necessary and properly documented.

8.1 Travel Approval

Business travel should receive the required approval before bookings are made. Employees should use approved travel providers where applicable.

8.2 Reimbursable Expenses

Reasonable transportation, accommodation and business-related expenses may be reimbursed when supported by valid receipts and submitted within the required timeframe.

8.3 Non-Reimbursable Expenses

Personal purchases, fines, entertainment unrelated to business and expenses that violate company rules are generally not reimbursable.

8.4 Expense Reporting

Expense claims must accurately describe the business purpose and must not contain altered or misleading information.

9. Performance & Professional Development

The company supports continuous learning, clear expectations and constructive performance management.

9.1 Performance Expectations

Employees should understand their responsibilities, objectives and expected standards of performance. Managers should provide timely feedback.

9.2 Performance Reviews

Formal reviews may be conducted periodically to evaluate achievements, development needs and future objectives.

9.3 Training

Employees may be required to complete mandatory training related to security, compliance, safety or job responsibilities.

9.4 Development

Employees are encouraged to pursue relevant learning opportunities and discuss development goals with their manager.

10. Confidentiality & Intellectual Property

Company information, inventions and work products must be handled according to applicable agreements and law.

10.1 Confidentiality

Employees must protect non-public information such as customer data, source code, business plans, financial information and internal documentation.

10.2 Work Product

Work created as part of employment may be subject to company intellectual-property agreements and applicable law.

10.3 Third-Party Materials

Employees must respect third-party copyrights, licenses, trademarks and confidential information. Unlicensed software or content must not be used for company work.

10.4 Departure

Upon leaving the company, employees must return company property and must not retain unauthorized copies of confidential information.

11. Disciplinary & Grievance Procedures

The company uses fair and documented procedures to address policy violations and employee concerns.

11.1 Policy Violations

Violations may result in coaching, corrective action, suspension or termination depending on the seriousness of the conduct and applicable law.

11.2 Investigation

Where appropriate, the company may investigate reported concerns, review relevant records and provide involved parties an opportunity to respond.

11.3 Grievances

Employees may raise workplace concerns through their manager, Human Resources or an approved grievance channel.

11.4 Documentation

Relevant disciplinary and grievance records should be maintained securely and accessed only by authorized personnel.

12. Policy Administration

This handbook provides a consolidated set of sample company policies for internal reference and knowledge-base testing.

12.1 Ownership

The Human Resources or designated policy owner is responsible for maintaining this handbook and coordinating updates.

12.2 Review

Policies should be reviewed at least annually and whenever legal, regulatory, organizational or operational requirements materially change.

12.3 Exceptions

Exceptions require documented approval from the appropriate authority and must not conflict with applicable law.

12.4 Interpretation

Where a policy conflicts with applicable law, the law takes precedence. Questions about interpretation should be directed to the relevant policy owner or Human Resources.
